Introduction

Introduce toothbrush

- A toothbrush is an oral hygiene instrument used to clean the teeth, gums and tongue.
- Generally, toothpaste is added to the toothbrush to clean the teeth when brushing teeth.
- The toothbrush is a daily necessity for people's life.

Three Interesting Facts

- The Original 'Toothbrush' Was a Stick
- Toothbrush Bristles Were Invented in China
- The most expensive toothbrush in the world

Analysis

Primary Industries—raw materials

- Industries related to extracting and processing basic raw materials from nature.
- The handles are made of plastics.
- The bristles are made of nylon. Nylon is a synthetic fiber that is strong and flexible.
- China is not only tops the list of countries producing the most plastic in the world, but also the largest producer of nylon filament yarn in the world.

Secondary Industries—toothbrush manufacturers

- Industries related to manufacturing toothbrush used by businesses and consumers.
- The machine operator feeds each brush handle, one by one, into a bristling machine. The machine pinches a number of precut nylon filaments from the bristle stock, bends the tuft in half, jams them into a precut hole in the head of the handle and staples the tuft securely into the head.

Application

Global Interdependence

- Mutual dependence at a worldwide level. When countries rely on each other for products and services.

What is Global Interdependence?

We all live in a global economy

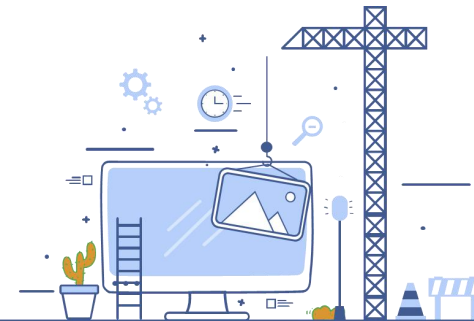

Mutual dependence at a global level. International trade has made countries depend on one another for economic survival.

Why should we be more grateful in our daily lives?

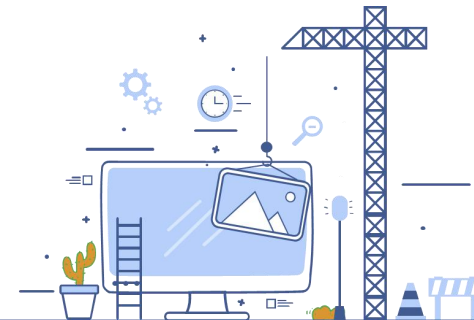

We should be more grateful because we live in an era when transportation is convenient, science and technology are advanced, food is plentiful and people live a happy life.

Why should we respect all professions, especially those in the primary industries?

Any Questions?

Thank You
